

RenoVations

Celebrating over 10 years of business, K and V Homes has been serving the residential housing needs of homeowners, consistently drawing rave reviews. By allowing you to remove yourself from the stress of your renovation project, Colin King and Dean Vogel, co-owners of K and V Homes, treat each project as if it were their own.

Whether your home is 80 years old or 8 months old, the ability to enhance the value of your home will always be present. Projects large and small are given the same attention to detail, encompassing your dreams and visions and bringing them to reality. Sharing a team of talented trades and vendors, Colin and Dean work closely with the homeowner, listening to their ideas while at the same time offering suggestions that together will exceed the initial expectations.

With the recent economic conditions, the decision to renovate has been on the minds of many a homeowner. K and V considers any residential project to be an investment for a homeowner and will discuss the multiple aspects of the project to ensure comprehension and understanding.

Converting that small bathroom into a master bath spa, creating a kitchen that fulfills your needs and brings your dreams to reality, or adding that room addition to create personal space, will all provide the return on your investment that you deserve.

K and V Homes looks forward to being your partner in this venture.
